NEW YORK, N.Y.
4 MAR 28 6 30 PM 1919
GRAND CENTRAL STA.

J. W. Freedman, Atty,
45 Goodbar Building.
Memphis, Tenn.

March 28, 1919.
Friday.

Dearest Hubby: —

Was so disappointed when I picked up your letter of Wednesday. Expected to find a big fat one. Never minded, look, I have that to look forward to, and sure as hope I get it to-morrow. You know I wait and wait for that big letter and then to be disappointed! — well, that's awful really. But business before my letters, every time, honey. So I am satisfied to wait until to-morrow.

To-day, usual Friday weather is miserable. Snow & cold! Everyone had already forgotten all about winter, gardens dug up, seeds sowed, the grass green, bushes & trees budding, and here comes a frost and heavy snow & mops everything. It was quite a surprise last night to be rained frightfully and I wondering whether it was raining down in Lewa, too. Was it?

I hope to start on my vacation on Tuesday, if all goes as I plan. Harrie is going to stand relief for me. You would hardly believe how hard or rather impossible it is to get anyone now. Were it not for Harrie, I could never go. No one will even consider or think of it. Mr. O'Hanlon, Mr. Hare, Mr. Swallow, everyone in fact take it for granted that I am soon leaving or else they ask the question, why take her vacation now? That plan of sick leave following my vacation is impossible I think, as under the circumstances they would immediately suspect it may cost me a loss of a month's salary. I will accomplish what I can in the two weeks, then come back for two weeks & then _____

I will give notice one week before I go. I have so much to do honey, that honestly, I don't know how I am going to get through with it. As it turns out now, Nell will be leaving on the 8th - of course, She, too, will have so much to do, that we will jess about be in each other's way & accomplish nothing. However, if I find my other way out, I run up to Jim Walters' house to see, until Nell gets everything done. I think we can manage between the two of us, and we will get through somehow. It seems a pity that our last few days should be spent in rush and hurry, don't it?

The time will soon show how short it is getting. I fancy the last week will fly, because I shall have to buy the finishing touches then such as hat & shoes etc. – Then the packing and the good byes all around. Lord! I really don't know how I shall manage it. I dread it think of it. But, Lark, after all of it — to whom, who will I be with? Eh, honey? Are you happy, mun?

Will run up to Jed's this afternoon, as I will not do any shopping owing to the weather. Now, see that you get that affidavit of Feeders out as quickly as possible. How, Ken did you make out in that case that interrupted my letter? Anything to it?

With all my love, hugs & kisses to my darling precious hubby dear, I'll close as Ever

Lovingly

Foots

Now, precious is you
I turnack bird you do as I told you to? Hope you are feeling a bright.

Take care of yourself, honey